In your Metroparks, you can stroll the grounds of the stunning Wildwood Manor House, or enjoy some of the best bird watching spots in North America. Family picnics, educational activities and quiet walks in the woods are all part of the Metroparks Experience right here in northwest Ohio.

Metroparks feature picnic areas, interpretive information, natural beauty and more than 100 miles of trails. Dozens of free or low-cost programs, special events and volunteer opportunities each month offer ways for people of every age to get connected.

Help Preserve Metroparks, Join Today!

Property tax revenues allow the park district to maintain the high standards the public has come to expect. But we depend on the generosity of our members and other loyal friends to expand our preservation and education activities.

Membership funds support the conservation and restoration of open spaces; educational programs for children; teachers and visitors; upgrades to the trails, picnic grounds and shelters; interpretive guides; bridge and walkway replacement; research and so much more.

Most important, by becoming our partner in preservation you'll play a role in conserving and protecting the natural and historical heritage of northwest Ohio.

Benefits of Membership

- Members are invited to such popular members-only programs as canoeing on the Maumee, special preview receptions at the National Center for Nature Photography and many more.
- Members receive valuable discounts on facility rentals.
- Members receive discounts on many programs where there is a fee.
- Members receive a subscription to the award-winning Metroparks Magazine.
- Members receive the quarterly Program Guide mailed to their home.

You can even buy a "MetroBarks" membership in your pet's name.
