

WELCOME!

Thank you for taking the opportunity to participate in this process. It is your feedback that drives the potential of what this park can be. Our goal for this meeting is to gather input about issues and opportunities for the Future Metropark through the various stations around the room.

THE PARK PLANNING PROCESS

The New Waterfront Metropark has been a subject of various development considerations over the years. Conversations about this park were revived through a series of planning efforts that were completed in 2016. Today's public meeting is the first of three open houses to take place this year.
